Biblical link	Why it matters	Christians believe that God made us. But he made us all differently. There is something different between all of us – even identical twins have different fingerprints. Each time we make make something we use our favourite colour and style – if you used the colouring craft – take a look are any exactly the same? God made us all unique, we are all different, and we need to appreciate the uniqueness of other people.	(S)
Take away response	Say: How will you respond to the message we have heard from God today?	In what ways are you different to others in your family, looks/ personality/likes & dislikes? Can you do things that other people can't - like rolling your tongue. This coming week notice different things – like different flowers and leaves. Notice how people you know are different to you and remember that God made them and loves them – just like God loves you.	B
